INTRODUCTION AND OBJECTIVES OF CONTRACT DRAFTING

In the present Scenario, from top to bottom, from small to senior level managers, everyone need to draft various contract for their day to day transactions. Although, such contract require the legal proficiency and expertise. Every law student must be able to grapple with complex commercial motive, business risk and predict how a contractual relationship may play out in a future. They shall not only be able to draft bullet proof contracts but also be able to negotiate them on behalf of their clients. So, the need of the hour is to possess deep insight and practical knowledge of contract drafting.

In this view Geeta Institute of Law has taken upon itself the task to conduct a contract drafting programme.

The present workshop would prove to be beneficial for all the law students, professionals' scholars, academicians and researchers. It would attempt to answer the following:

- What difference does skilful legal drafting of commercial contracts make?
- What does a client / your employer expect to achieve from a contract?
- How can you safeguard the interests of your clients / company?
- How to limit obligations of your clients / company?
- If and how to work with sample templates?
